Navy Medicine Reserve Force IPT

RADM Ben Gaumer, SHCE, USN

Navy Medicine Reserve Force IPT

- Chartered 4 Jan 06
- Tasked to develop CONOPS with POA&M
- Purpose - devise the most efficient and effective organizational structure that fully integrates and aligns Navy Medicine Reserve Component assets into both BUMED and Regional Command total force management processes.
  - to include Reserve Flag Officer management (with scope, authority, and responsibility)

Navy Medicine Reserve Force IPT

- Background -
  - Navy's transformation initiatives focused on resource efficiencies, recapitalization and alignment
  - need to understand how Navy Medicine Reserve assets are aligned, integrated, and utilized including
    - Best use of IDT / IDTT / ADT / ADSW
    - Full integration of reserve manpower into Navy Medicine total force management
    - Must be agile enough to meet the current and evolving needs of Navy Medicine while remaining coherent, efficient, and effective

Navy Medicine Reserve Force IPT

- OBJECTIVES / DELIVERABLES
  - Assess current mission, organizational structure, processes, and management of all medical reserve component (RC) personnel
  - Create CONOPS of Reserve Medical Component to include Marine Corps Reserve medical support

Navy Medicine Reserve Force IPT

- OBJECTIVES/DELIVERABLES (cont)
  - Provide recommendations for
    - RC medical mission
    - RC funding authorities
    - RC medical training for missions
    - Medical services delivery to RC personnel
    - RC medical equipment/deployable platforms
    - RC integration into Navy Medicine regions, including command and control issues
    - Analysis of potential risks and conflicts of interest
    - Desired outcomes, key performance metrics and measures of success
    - RC force structure
    - Staffing/billet structure
    - RC IMR

Navy Medicine Reserve Force IPT

- TIMELINE
  - 15 FEB 06 SWOT analysis of present structure and SWOT analysis of Integrated model
  - 01 MAR 06 First draft and brief of CONOPS to Vice Chief, BUMED
  - 01 APR 06 Final Approval of CONOPS and final report to Vice Chief, BUMED

Navy Medicine Reserve Force IPT

Aligning Authority and Accountability for Reserve Component